MT. VERNON MAN FINED $100 HERE

Joe Lafe, Arrested at Fairgrounds on Illegal Possession Charge.

Joe Lafe, 33, of Mt. Vernon, was fined $100 when he pleaded guilty Saturday in municipal court to a liquor possession charge, following his arrest at the fairgrounds Saturday afternoon by Deputy Sheriff Chester Cosgrove, Police Chief William E. Marks and Patrolman E. C. Macken.

He was released after paying his fine.

Authorities are held Ernest Auskins, also of Mt. Vernon, in county jail on a charge of disorderly conduct in connection with an alleged bootleg stand he and Lade established at the fairgrounds Saturday. Auskins is said by officials to have assaulted Bob Lee, 26, of North Randall, knocking him down and kicking him. He is in City hospital today with a broken jaw.

Lafe and Auskins were ordered to leave the fairgrounds Saturday morning by Deputy Cosgrove when they arrived. When they failed to comply, he called police several hours later and raided the stall in which the men had temporarily located. Five gallons of whisky was seized and the two men were arrested.

Authorities say Auskins assumed Lee when the latter failed to pay for liquor he is said to have purchased. Auskins has not yet been arraigned.

People who work hard with their hands never have nervous prostrawife in a truck, the confession said, to where Mrs. Lowther was waiting.

The confession related that Mrs. Lowther met the Smiths in the truck "ordered" Smith to leave and then shot his wife while she sat with a baby in her arms.

Officials Testify

Former Sheriff Frank Sheldon and former Deputy Sheriff L. C. Kelley who were present when the alleged confessor was given were called to testify of it at today's session of the trial.

The courtroom was filled with spectators, more than 400 of whom were waiting for admittance when the doors were opened.

After the shooting, Smith walked back to the city with his two children and said robbers had shot his wife.

Smith was twice convicted of first degree murder, the last time only a few weeks ago. He is now in Ohio penitentiary under sentence, but left that for the jury to decide.

Reveals Murder Plot

The alleged confession told of a plot between Mrs. Lowther and Tilby Smith, husband of the victim, to kill Mrs. Smith because she interfered with their illicit love affair. It said poisoning was first considered as the method, but was abandoned in favor of shooting.

Mrs. Lowther was given a revolver and Smith took her to a lonely place near Ashtabula. She hid there while he returned home to get his wife. Smith drove his

SIX CHICAGO BANKS FIGURE IN MERGERS

Two of Most Important Consolidations in City's Annals Effected

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, June 8.—Two of the most important bank mergers in the history of Chicago were effected early today when the First National and the First Union Trust & Savings bank, its affiliate absorbed the Foremen State National bank and the Foremen State Trust & Savings bank and a consolidation was arranged between the Central Trust company of Illinois and the National bank of the Republic.

The mergers provide the city with three large banking institutions. Total resources of the Continental on March 25, the date of the last bank call were $1,122,942,654.

The Central Trust-National bank of the Republic merger will result in a bank with total resources of more than $350,000,000, the third largest banking unit in Chicago by a comfortable margin.

The mergers were effected after almost 36 hours of continuous conference.

Better Homes Committee in Final Cleanup Appeal

Group Headed by Mrs. H. K. Mouser Gives Report, Including Suggestions for Beautifying Homes at Small Cost; Harmony of Shades Is Stressed.

Color, comfort and coziness are the three C's emphasized by members of the Better Homes committee of the cleanup campaign in a final appeal today to make "Marion the cleanest city in the state" before the arrival of the many guests at the dedication of the Harding Memorial next week.

The committee, of which Mrs. H. K. Mouser is the chairman, has made the following report:

"In studying Better Homes from the standpoint of making them more attractive inside as well as out, the committee wishes to say, it does not necessarily mean an expenditure of money, but careful planning as to color, comfort, and coziness.

"One must always have a pattern, method, scheme, or whatever one wishes to call it in order to successfully arrive at any desired objective, and so it is with the planning of the decoration of one's home. Decide on a definite color which will be restful to the eye yet lend character to the room, then use blending colors, or even shades of same color for accessories, such as pillows, curtains, lamp shades. It is often easy to get a color scheme from some rug, piece of cretonne, or some choice piece of embroidery one may have and all these ideas may be carried out in a most inexpensive way.

"For example, we know of a home which was most attractive which had cheecloth curtains in a most pleasing shade of green, a cool shade to use for summer, and colored Indian head slip covers for the chairs in harmonizing shades—not all alike, but one of amethyst, one of tangerine, etc.

"It is always much more practical to have plain walls, for one does not grow tired of them so quickly. Then too, there is always some choice embroidered scarf, shawl, or perhaps a rare old woven bedspread our great grandmothers made, that may be hung to real advantage on plain walls, whereas they could not be used on a large figured paper. But most important, keep your home harmonious in color, for it creates harmony among the members of the household as well.

"A very modest cottage may be set in the midst of a beautiful, carefully planned lawn and garden, and make a much more beautiful picture than a more pretentious house, with no lawn or thought of landscaping.

"Then, too, in choosing the color

LOWER FARM COSTS NEEDED

Necessary To Equalize Expense with Decreased Income, Director Says.

By The Associated Press
COLUMBUS, O., June 9—Farm incomes will be reduced one-third even in the face of average crops and prices on commodities purchased by the farmer must be reduced to meet the low level of the income, according to Carl J. West, research director of the Ohio Farm Bureau.

"Farmers will be able to work out some economies in their operations and to reduce costs," said West, "but it will be impossible for the Ohio farmers to reduce costs to equal the reduction in farm incomes."

"Prices paid by farmers are reported by the department of agriculture to be 31 per cent higher than the 1913 level. This is a decline from a 50 per cent increase last year. The price index for farm products now stands at 86 per cent, as estimated by the department of agriculture. We therefore have incomes on a basis of 56 per cent and purchase at 131 per cent prices."

"Grain prices are estimated at 74 per cent, which is probably too low a figure for the 1913 crop, but there is no hope for any marked increase in this price level. In the absence of accurate comparative figures of prices for farm implements, it is hard to say that these prices stand far above a 74 per cent level, and yet farm implements are used in the production of these grains."

with 25 head of stock and 13 persons in last year's show. The daily performances this year will last two and a quarter hours.

Trick riding, dramatization of stagecoach days and travel in covered wagons are among the various acts offered by the rodeo according to Siffrin.

In revamping admission prices, the board divided grandstand admission into two classes. General admission to the stand will be 25 cents, and reserved seats in the stand will sell for 50 cents each.

Siffrin announced a demand last year for reserved grandstand seats both for the rodeo and races was responsible for the decision this year. By dropping admission prices to 25 cents the board hopes to attract a greater number of persons to the fair.

An intensive drive to sell membership tickets in the agricultural society will be launched this year. A membership ticket will sell for $1.50 and entitles its holder to enter the grounds at any time during the fair, as well as a vote in the election of board members.

In cases where an exhibitor has no competition this year, the exhibitor will be given only first premium. In previous years, exhibitors having no competitors were awarded first and second money, Siffrin said.

The board voted unanimously in favor of the rodeo for this year's attraction after interviewing representatives of Barnes-Carruthers Co. of Chicago, Taylor Enterprises of Chicago, Gus Sun Co. of Springfield, and the King Bros. Rodeo.

NEW DORMITORY IS DEDICATED AT O. W. U.
Stuyvesant Hall Given to School by Cleveland; Will House 255.

DELAWARE, June 8—Stuyvesant hall, new $400,000 dormitory for freshmen women, was dedicated Sunday as a feature of Ohio Wesleyan university's eighty-seventh annual commencement festivities.

The building, which will house 255 girls, is the gift of the late Frank E. Stuyvesant of Cleveland, while the memorial tower and carillon and the furnishings of the building are the gift of Mrs. Stuyvesant. The tower and the 15 bell carillon which it houses have been given the university as a memorial to Mr. Stuyvesant.

The bells in the chimes, which were played for the first time as a feature of the dedication exercises, range in weight from 325 to 2200 pounds each. The carillon will be heard at a distance from four to five miles from Delaware, experts predict. The top of the tower is illuminated by an electric beacon which may be seen for miles. The new dormitory is thoroughly fireproof, being constructed of steel, concrete and hollow tile faced with brick and trimmed with stone.

A refrigerating room in connection with the kitchen, special typewriting rooms, six "date" parlors where coeds may entertain callers, and a recreation room equipped with a stage and dance floor are included in the special equipment which the building provides.

Mrs. Stuyvesant presented the building to Ohio Wesleyan university at dedication services Sunday. President Edmund D. Soper received the building on behalf of Ohio Wesleyan. The principal address of the occasion was made by Dr. John W. Hoffman, president emeritus of the university.

Daily Proverb—"Contentment gives a crown where fortune has denied it."

King George, of Great Britain, is editorially referred to by a big city newspaper as "a mild-mannered old gentleman." Where do you suppose the striping who wrote that got that "old stuff"? Why, at sixty-six George is just in his prime!

The International Radio congress in Copenhagen, made up of delegates from thirty-three countries including the United States, has taken steps "to take unnecessary noises out of radios." The thing would be more interesting were the public given up to what proportion of radio disturbance is "unnecessary."

It's worth noting that, although the state and municipal authorities in Chicago had no success in apprehending Alphonse Capone, he came in and surrendered when the United States government got after him. The Chicago underworld recognized the fact that the government of Uncle Sam is honest, beyond rotteness and can not be bought.

Mrs. Mary Armour, told the 1,400 members of the W. C. T. U. assembled from fifty counties for their international convention in Toronto, Canada, that the United States would remain dry. Of course, it must be understood that Mrs. Armour meant legally dry. The use of the word, "remain," plainly indicates that.

The United States department of labor has announced that 1,801 aliens were deported during April of the present year, 171 more than the preceding month, and that but 8,470 were admitted as compared with 22,261 in April, 1930, the record of the latter month exceeding by 1,587 all the aliens admitted the first five months of this year. At that ratio of decrease, it will not be long till it will really be a case of "America for Americans."

After an absence of twelve years, Sessue Hiyakawa, the former young Japanese film star, has returned to the United States to enter the talkies. If his work in the talkies is as good as it was in the silent films, movie patrons will soon have opportunity to enjoy a treat.

President Hoover has announced that the number of persons now engaged in construction work on government projects or in furnishing supplies for government projects is 1,856,000, over three times the number thus employed January 1, and that the number of regular federal employees other than those thus engaged had decreased from 902,000 on January 1, 1930 to 801,000 on June 1 of the present year.
This has all the earmarks of a considerable cut in the ranks of the unemployed.

A Battered Trial Balloon.

The federal government has a trial balloon up to determine the nation's opinion on federal taxation of automobiles and fuel. The balloon is badly battered. It is an easy target.

The goose that lays the golden eggs is killed just as dead from overwork as from decapitation. The gasoline tax, for instance, has been a never-ending curse of joy to tax-raisers; apparently it can be boosted right into the stratosphere—with Professor Piccard's sealed gondola and no one will call it halt.

Last year the states reaped $404,683,000 from gasoline taxes, ranging from two to six cents a gallon. The average automobile driver paid $18.62 in gasoline taxation in 1930, which was approximately five dollars more than the average automobile registration fee. That was high, but the taxation item of overhead for automobile owners has not reached the top yet.
The only reason more wasn't said in state legislatures about gas tax boosts this year was the powerful argument of hard times that would have been brought against such action.

The Ohio legislature, which hardly dares talk about a higher gas tax until the shock of the last boost wears off, is doing its best to raise the return from license plate sales instead.

The temptation federal taxationists face in looking over the states' incomes from gas taxes and license plate fees is easy to understand.
There is this consideration, furthermore: the highway systems which automobiles use were paid for by state and federal funds; money which the states raised by direct taxes on automobiles and automobile fuel was matched, in many cases, by federal funds raised in other ways. Why shouldn't the federal government get in on a good thing too? Why shouldn't its road-building money be derived from automobiles?

The answer is that the automobile can't keep going forever if too many tax-raisers lean on it.
Doubling the present average rate of taxation, which is what federal entrance into the automobile taxation field would mean, is more of a load than can be carried by one source.
Automobile owners have been patient because they believed their burden was necessary to build the highways they wanted. Their pocketbook nerve warns them it's time to stop being patient now.

An Important Week.

Chancellor Bruening and Foreign Minister Curtius of Germany are in England. They had important conversations with many government officials and bankers over the weekend, chief among them being Premier MacDonald and Foreign Minister Henderson. The conversations are to continue today.

It is no secret any longer that Germany faces an economic crisis the effects of which she hopes to lessen by withholding payment of the proportionate reparation annuities under the Young plan. It is generally taken for granted that if Germany were to postpone payments, and prove the step necessary to her welfare, the Young plan would be revised in such a way as to reduce its annual reparation payments.

The conversations between the high officials of Great Britain and Germany will concern this possibility, among other things. Great Britain is frankly desirous of showing Germany its attitude in one of friendship, extending to the point of active aid in helping that nation grope its way out of the financial tangle that threatens to bring on revolution. While opinion anticipates no immediate result of the conversations, their ultimate effect probably will be far-reaching.

The United States is naturally the most interested listener. Perhaps it is true, as is charged by skeptics in Germany, that Americans are unaware that the whole burden or repairs and debts rest on Germany. Perhaps it is true, too, that Americans generally do not know that more than half of the $400,- 000,000 Germany pays the allies annually goes eventually to the United States through the debt payments of other nations. If Germany defaults its payments to France, for instance, France may be expected to default her payments to the United States. It was not merely for good will that Charles G. Dawes, Owen D.
Young and S. Parker Gilbert, Jr., labored in Germany. The United States was looking out for its own interests. The plan hit upon, however, seems due for rough sledding the next few months.

Strengthening Confidence in Order.

The most pernicious effect of Alphonse Capone's career has been the suspicion that law and order were unable to cope with the situation adequately. Though known to derive a large part of his income from illicit trading in liquor and beer, though rated as Chicago's No. 1 public enemy, and though closely associated with various Chicago rackets and illegal practices elsewhere in the United States, Capone has served but one jail sentence—a year for carrying concealed weapons.

The most important single event that could transpire in the United States to show that the strength of orderly government is greater than the strength of hoodlumism would be the conviction of Capone. The procedure which may lead to that end has been started. Capone has been indicted by a federal grand jury on charges of wilful evasion of income taxes. He has surrendered to the government and been released on a bond of $50,000. His fate rests now with the judiciary of the social order he has defied. United States Attorney E. Q. Johnson, who has never failed to secure conviction on a gangster tax evasion case, is confident he will do to Capone what he already has done to Capone's brother, and at least five Capone henchmen.

There are rumors that the relentless campaign of the district attorney's office to get a case on Capone has sapped the latter's power and income to the point that his influence has waned. This is important information for Americans to hear. There is a force stronger than hoodlumism—an orderly force supported by orderly citizens. Al Capone's conviction will prove its existence beyond reasonable doubt.

Protect Home Industries.

Ohio's probate judges are studying how applicants for marriage licenses may avoid the five-day notice of intention required by the state's new marriage license law. They have the best interests of the state at heart, presumably.

Licenses issued out of the state are money out of the judges' pockets. The judges have built up a tidy sum in the elaborately inscribed certificates handed out with marriage licenses. The certificates are priced from a dollar up, the license itself costs one dollar, total, anywhere from two to five dollars. The first item is velvet for the judges and soft velvet, because at least ninety per cent of the applicants buy certificates. But, reason the judges, if we don't sell the certificates the ministers or somebody else will.

In the border counties of the state, of course, the certificate business will be blown to pieces unless some means of keeping applicants for marriage licenses from going into another state to escape the five-day notice provision of the new law is found. The judges don't want to see all that money leaving Ohio. It is up to them to protect home industries.

So they are studying—studying how to get around a law that is the outgrowth of sound opinion on one way to discourage runaway and hasty marriages in Ohio.

The judges have the interest of the state at heart, presumably.

Bobby Jones has quit the movies to return to the practice of the law. While it is possible, even probable, that the bar will gain by it, the change in the direction of Bobby's efforts, it is a cinch that the movies will not suffer any considerable loss.

Public Won't Stand for It.

Charles R. Rogers, vice president in charge of RKO-Pathe productions, is out in a statement to the effect that "motion pictures must choose between two masters. They can serve the public by remaining strictly as entertainment mediums, or they can serve commerce by becoming advertising mediums. They can not serve both. We intend to follow the former course." The Paramount-Publix corporation has announced that hereafter its productions will be devoid of advertising. It is interesting

BARKING AT POOR LITTLE BUTTERCUP.

Bows to American Science.

BY ARCHIBALD HENDERSON.

An extraordinary tribute has just been paid by Professor Albert Einstein to American science, as the result of his recent visit to this country. In his second lecture at Oxford on May 18 he paid high tribute to Dr. Edwin Hubble for his noteworthy studies regarding the extra-galactic nebulae. Indeed, these discoveries have caused Einstein to modify his own theory of static universe in favor of a dynamic universe, undergoing intermittent changes of expansion and contraction.

Let us see how this alteration in Einstein's view has come about. First of all, it must be pointed out that Einstein had assumed that matter was uniformly scattered throughout the universe. This was the simplest assumption that could be made, and on that account recommended itself to Einstein. Of course, this assumption is inaccurate for small portions of space, since matter is accumulated in large bodies, like planets, stars and the like. But it is very approximately true if the regions of space considered are sufficiently large.

Now Hubble made several remarkable discoveries. First, he found, in agreement roughly with Einstein's view, that the extra-galactic nebulae are uniformly distributed throughout space. Furthermore, he discovered, by spectroscopic methods, that these nebulae were receding from us at enormous velocities. For exceedingly distant nebulae, it was found that this speed was as high as 18,000 kilometers per second. This is an enormous velocity for cele-strial objects, being more than one-fifteenth the velocity of light. Furthermore, Hubble found that the further away the nebulae were, the faster they traveled.

In 1922, the Russian scientist Friedman, made a study of the universe, according to Elstein's principles, but denied the uniform distribution of matter in favor of the assumption that the distribution of matter varies with the time. Other scientists, notably Lemaitre, De Sitter, and the American physicist, Tolman, have made similar assumptions. Lemaitre, for example, assuming that the radius of the universe varies with the time. By omitting the famous "cosmological term" from his equations, Einstein was able to show that the world density varies with the time.

According to Einstein's new theory, a periodic movement is taking place in the universe, of alternate expansions and contractions. Perhaps the entire universe itself is like one of the Novae or "breathing" stars.

If Hubble's conclusions are correct, we are led to the belief that the present radius of the universe, conceived as finite, is roughly 100,- 000,000 light years. Einstein inclines to the belief that the mean density of the universe is about the same as that of the Milky Way, in view of the fact that cosmic radiation comes to us uniformly from all directions, and not simply from the Milky Way.—Copyright, 1931,

Our Governors by Counties.

BY J. H. GALBRAITH.

Though Ohio is now 129 years old, but forty-five persons from Governor Tiffin to Governor White have occupied the office of governor, which shows that the state has been quite liberal in bestowing plural terms to the same person.

It is a surprise to find that a check-up of the list shows that twelve of the forty-nine governors, or almost twenty-five per cent, were elected from the same county—Hamilton.

Cuyahoga and Ross come next with four to the credit of each. Franklin, Montgomery, Richland, Warren, Butler and Washington have furnished two governors each; no other county has furnished more than one.

The counties that come in the single governor list are Adams, Trumbull, Highland, Warren, Pike, Champaign, Belmont, Geauga, Fairfield, Mahoning, Sandusky, Seneca, Stark, Clark, Clermont, Preble, Hardin and Tuscarawas.

Count up these counties that have furnished governors more or less numerously and you will find that they total twenty-six. As there are eighty-eight counties in the state, that means that there are sixty-two counties that never produced a governor. Lucas is the only county in our state that never gave the state a governor.

In one case the same person represents two counties. Rutherford B. Hayes was first elected from Hamilton country and served two terms. Retiring from the office he was elected to a third term in 1873. In the meantime, he had changed his residence to Fremont, and so is credited this time to Sandusky county. In the above consideration governors by election and governors by succession are treated alike.

Perhaps that was more or less of a fad, but no one can doubt that the physical exercise of swimming is decidedly beneficial. Even for persons who are partially paralyzed it is helpful. Indeed, it is one of the recognized treatments for children who have had infantile paralysis. It helps to strengthen the muscles and also to restore function.

In swimming, the muscles of the arms, legs and trunk are called into action. Back and chest muscles, as well as the lung muscles are given thorough exercise.

If you have a weak heart, or are "short-winded" from any cause, you must use common sense. Surf bathing, racing and over-straining must be avoided. But no matter how far you may be, swimming in still and not too cold water, will do you good.

It is a great mistake to stay in the water too long. You have been too long if you fail to react well from the brisk rubbing with a coarse towel. There should be a glorious glow after the skin is dry.

It is well to begin the season gradually. Do not swim too much the first day. It is surprising how lame and worn out overdoing will cause you to be.

Some of you used to swim when you were young. Why not do it now? It will help you to stay young and to renew your youth.

Needless to say, the water must be pure.
The shores and bath houses must be clean.
Under proper conditions swimming deserves far more popularity than it has.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES

A READER Q—I have a son eighteen whom the doctor is treating for high blood pressure—he has violent nosebleeds almost daily, occurring several times a day—especially upon arising in the morning. The bleeding continues whether he keeps quiet or moves about.

—While high blood pressure is not necessarily dangerous it should have proper medical attention and advice. In many instances proper diet and care will bring about general improvement. The treatment depends upon the source of the trouble.

In thus reducing to simple terms a distressing complex situation one must expect some wide gaps to appear. For instance, immediately after the war the United States enjoyed unbound prosperity, whereas the automobiles with the mortgaged home was denied a single moment of happiness following the crash. But the judge adequately explains how our high-pressure production, which the necessities of the war taught us, continued afterwards for some time. This differentiating circumstance does not destroy the underlying truth of the parallel. The remedy lies none the less in the individual attitude of courage and confidence essential to the stimulation of industry and consumption.

JOHN J. B. Q—What is the difference between neurosis and neuritis?

A—Neurosis is a disturbance of the nervous system, and neuritis inflammation of a nerve.

UPPER SANDUSKY, June 8.—Dr. George W. Cliffe, 76, a conspicuous figure in the recent history of Wyandot county, died at his home on west Wyandot avenue Sunday at 9:30 a. m. following a three years of paralysis. He had been in failing health for some time previous to being forced to relinquish his practice of veterinary surgery because of ill-health.

Dr. Cliffe was born near Jeromeville in Ashland county Nov. 6, 1866, the son of Joseph C. and Adassa Cliffe. Later he attended a normal school with the object of preparing himself for the legal profession, but before carrying out this purpose became a teacher and later superintendent of the Jeromeville schools. After severing with school work he began the study of veterinary surgery with Dr. William H. Derr of Wooster as his instructor. Later he attended the veterinary college at Toronto, Canada.

In 1878 he was united in marriage to Miss Maggie E. Wilson, of Jeromeville, whom with one daughter, Mrs. Fred B. Winter of Columbus, survives. He is also survived by four brothers and three sisters. The late Dr. D. B. Cliffe of Marion was brother of the deceased.

Dr. Cliffe came to this city in 1886 and began the practice of his profession. In 1892 he completed a course in the Ohio Veterinary college at Cincinnati. In the fall of 1899 he was elected as sheriff of this county by one of the largest majorities ever given a candidate for the position. Two years later MacDowell has been stationed since 1929 on the great Vumbud state farm in northern Caucasus.

The order of Lenin carried a salary increase of thirty rubles, about $15 a month, a 25 per cent reduction in house rent, two railway passes a year to any point in Soviet Russia, and three street car tickets. The children of those who possess the order are ranked as "children of workers."

MacDowell is the first American to receive the decoration.

At the close of yesterday afternoon's meeting a supper was served by the women of the Galion Lodge. The evening program was presented with Carl Monat of Galion in charge. A xylophone and piano number was played by Miss Elizabeth Schragg and Mrs. MacDowell, a reading by Miss Miriam Pfeiffer, a vocal duet sung by Miss Elizabeth Schragg and Mrs. Martha Dowler, accompanied at the piano by Miss Dorothy Heiser, a reading by Miss Vivian Ricker, an accordion solo by Kenneth Rensch, a humorous talk by Hugh Diamond of Galion, and another number by Miss Schragg and Mrs. MacDowell.

Epworth M. E. Church Scene of Ward-Snyder Wedding

EPWORTH M. E. church was the scene of the wedding of Miss Helen Louise Ward to Clarence W. Snyder, yesterday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. Before the altar filled with tall wicker baskets of pink and white peonies, Dr. C. E. Turley, pastor, read the impressive double ring ceremony.

Preceding the strains of "The Wedding March" from Wagner's "Lohengrin," Miss Dorothy Zieg, classmate of the bride, played a group of organ numbers, "The Love Theme" from Schubert's "Unfinished Symphony," "All For You," Bertrand-Brown, "I Love You Truly," Bond and "Oh Promise Me," R. DeKoven. While the vows were exchanged, she played softly "At Dawning," Cadman.

The bride entered on the arm of her father, Clyde Ward, who gave her in marriage. Her wedding dress was of heavy white satin, fitted with a peplum flaring at the hipline and long sleeves. A belt and rhinestone buckle held the waist.

The veil, capshaw held in place with a wreath of seed pearls, was full, and fell to the edge of the peplum. White roses and gardenias in a shower were her flowers. She wore a necklace of rock crystals of modernistic cut, a gift of the bridegroom.

Miss Leona Thompson attended as her maid of honor and Miss Irene Snyder, sister of the bride-groom, and Miss Marian Baker of Cleveland, classmate of the bride, were her bridesmaids. The three wore organdy dresses, made alike, and in pink and green. The dresses were fashioned with a fitted basque, wide shawl collar edged with two wide ruffles, and held at the waist with velvet ribbons. The fitted banque extended to the hip.

Jubilee's Pardner

A Story of Humorous Boyhood Adventure

By JUDD MORTIMER LEWIS

YESTERDAY was Sunday and was bright and sunny. I let Jubilee down and put on my shirt britches and went down and milked the dummed brutes, and got washed by my aunt, and by that time the bunch were all there and they enjoyed my getting washed more than I did.

I was just starting out to go and take the cows out when my mother told me to hurry back from the pasture and keep Annabelle Lee out in the sunshine till Sunday school time, so there Feeble and Younies and Maggie said they would wait till I came back instead of going to the pasture with me. They were all dressed up like dolls with clothes that a fella could almost see through if they stood in the sun, and when me and Jubilee got back from the pasture they already had Annabelle Lee out in the yard in her buggy, and they were standing by her talking to each other when I saw a yellow jacket crawling on the front of Annabelle Lee's dress, but I knocked it off before it stung her; and when I looked around to see where it had come from I found a little hole in the ground about as big as a lead pencil and I saw a yellow jacket crawl into it, so I held a little stick over the hole so they couldn't get out.

My grandfather told me once that if I would put some sweetened water in a jug and leave it near a yellow jacket's nest they would crawl into the jug and get drowned; so I told Feeble to hold the stick over the hole till I had found me a jug and put some sweetened water in it, so I went in the house and found a jug and fixed it up and was bringing it out and Feeble was setting on the ground looking up at Annabelle Lee in her buggy, and Maggie and Younies were standing up playing with her, and just as I got near them Feeble gave a screech and went up in the air like a skyrocker and knocked Annabelle Lee's buggy over, and went half way across the yard grabbing at herself and hollering.

When she stopped and I had straightened Annabelle Lee's buggy I asked her what was the matter, and she said she got tired of holding the stick over the yellow jacket hole so she sat down on it.

Harness Racing at Fairground To Commence Tuesday

HALF-MILE TRACK IN READINESS FOR 4-DAY SHORT SHIP MEETING

At Least 175 Horses Certain To Be Quartered in Stables of Local Oval.

WITH horses continuing to pour into the stables at the fairground oval at a rapid rate indications today point to record field of trotters and pacers being on hand for the opening Tuesday of the first local meeting of the 1931 Short Ship racing association. Local officials are already facing the problem of finding suitable quarters for all of the 175 entries which are certain to be at the track by late today.

Everything is in readiness for the opening event of Tuesday, the 18 class pace with a purse of $400. The newly installed barrier which will be used for the first time in starting the horses has been tested and is ready for use. Its adoption will eliminate the scoring which in former years has been a source of annoyance to patrons of the racing oval.

Besides the 18 class pace the opening day's events will be a 24 class trot and an 11 class pace. Ten or 11 starters are expected in the latter two races with either nine or 10 in the 18 pace.

The half mile track at the fairground is in excellent shape today although still heavy from the rains of the week-end. Dry weather from now until race time will assure a fast oval for the horses.

The complete schedule of races for the four day meeting follows: Wednesday, 18 class trot, purse $400; 21-17 class pace, claiming $300; Free-for-all trot, $500, and three-year-old trot, $300; Thursday, 22-18 class trot, claiming $300; 15 class pace, $400; 15 class trot, $400; and three-year-old pace, $300. Friday: Free-for-all pace, $500; 24 class pace, $500, and 12 class trot, $400.

Ladies will be admitted to the races free on Tuesday, the opening day.

MARIETTA CREW IN RACE WITH HUSKIES

Ohio College Oarsmen Meet Washington on River Course Tuesday.

By United Press.
MARIETTA, O., June 8.—The Ohio river, workshop and playground for man since flatboats first drifted with its current, tomorrow will become the scene for an intersectional college shell race. Little Marietta college, with a total enrollment of 250 students, meets the powerful varsity and freshman crews of the University of Washington. The Pacific coast stalwarts have arrived, and today were to stroke over the four-mile river course in a practice row.

Shell racing was inaugurated at Marietta last year after a group of public-spirited businessmen promoted river regattas to finance the project. Since the purchase of four second-hand shells, approximately one-fourth of the student population has been in training.

Wichita, in the Western League, scored 26 runs to defeat Omaha in an early season game.

CUBS SHOVE GIANTS FROM SECOND PLACE IN NATIONAL LEAGUE

Cards Lose Half Game of Lead by Splitting Double-Header.

BY HUGH R. FULLERTON, JR.

Associated Press Sports Writer

Chicago's Cubs finally appear to have hit their stride.

They floundered badly during the middle of May, losing eight games out of ten in one group. In the past two weeks they have turned a new leaf, winning 12 of their last 15 games and climbing into second place. In this streak they have been hitting hard and some fine mound work by Bob Smith who has won four consecutive games, and Lester Sweetland has helped considerably.

They passed the New York Giants yesterday with an 8 to 3 victory in a game that was stopped by rain in the sixth inning. Hornsby and Hack Wilson hit home runs.

The St. Louis Cardinals lost a half game from their margin of leadership but remained four games ahead of Chicago as they divided double header with the Brooklyn Robins. Dazzy Vance held the champions to five hits in the opener which Brooklyn won 6 to 4, but Bill Hallahan stopped the Robins in the second game with six hits for a 9 to 0 triumph.

Cincinnati ran its best winning streak to five games by defeating Boston 8 to 2 in the first half of a double bill as Red Lucas pitched a six hit game, but the Braves reversed the decision in part two by 10 to 0 in a free hitting affair that saw nine pitchers at work.

Three of the four American league games furnished an interesting study in contrasts between the winners and the losers. The fourth was a slugging match the Philadelphia Athletics trounced Detroit 12 to 2. Detroit had 18 men left on bases.

The three winning teams in the other games collected a total of 35 hits while the three losers could get only 15. Lloyd Brown of Washington held the Chicago White Sox to four hits for an 8 to 1 triumph. Danny MacPhayden, Boston's bespectacled star, beat the St. Louis Browns 6 to 3 with a five-hit pitching job.

Vernon Gomez, Yankee southpaw, won his fifth consecutive game by checkering Cleveland with six hits while Babe Ruth led the way to a 5 to 1 victory.

GOLFERS SEEK POSTS IN NATIONAL OPEN

1097 Battling for 97 Vacant Places on Widely Scattered Courses.

By The Associated Press.
NEW YORK, June 8.—An army of 1097 golfers today was traveling 36 holes on 20 widely separated courses in an attempt to gain one of the 97 vacant places in the national open championship, to be played at the Inverness club, Toledo, O., starting July 2.

Fifty-three other players, given exemption, will go directly to Inverness to make the open's starting field exactly 150.

The Chicago district had the biggest field in the qualifying round today. There 177 players sought the 15 places allotted to that district. On the other side of the picture was the Seattle district where Harold Niemeyer of Seattle, the only contender for the one place allotted to that district, automatically qualified.

The exempt list includes 31 players who finished in the first 30 and ties in the open at Interlachen last year. Actually there were 34 in this category but Bobby Jones, the champion Craig Wood, and Johnny Goodman have not entered the 1931 titular chase.

Emory university in Atlanta, which does not compete in inter-collegiate athletics, has employed six coaches for next year to instruct students for intramural sports.

Today in Marion Markets

Groceries, Produce, Meat, Grain, Livestock

Fairly large supplies of all seasonable fruits and vegetables with no change in prices prevailed on local markets today. Dealers reported unusually heavy buying Saturday, especially of the many specialty offered by the various dealers.

Strawberries were not as plentiful early today although ample supplies were expected later in the day. The price was holding at from 20 to 30 cents a quart. Home grown berries are expected to appear on the market next week although no great quantity is expected before the latter part of the week. Kentucky berries are becoming more plentiful.

Vegetable prices were unchanged today. New potatoes continue plentiful and were selling at from 30 to 55 cents a peck. Prospects of a large crop of home grown early potatoes are good, dealers say, although the time of their appearance on the markets is indefinite.

System of Naming U. S. Attorneys Is Attacked

Political Influence Brought by Senate Pronounced Menace to Law Enforcement in National Commission Report.

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, June 8.—The political influence brought by the senators in the appointment of federal district attorneys was termed "a serious menace to the enforcement of law" in the third report of the national law enforcement commission.

The report was submitted to President Hoover and made public through the White House. It urged the elimination of political consideration in the selection and appointment of district attorneys.

"The great powers of the district attorney under the continual extension of federal jurisdiction in the present century," the report said, "are giving increasing political importance to the office." Treatment of it as a reward for political activity is a serious menace to enforcement of law."

The report declared the clan of the senators "not merely to exercise a collective power of rejecting unfit nominations but to dictate appointments as the patronage of senators of the state in which the district

It has often had a bad effect upon the personnel and conduct of office."

In states where the senators are in opposition to the administration, the commission said, "it happens too often that political organizations insist on treating the office as political patronage, and thus deprive the President of the information and support he should have in order to make suitable appointments."

The commission said that federal state and local prosecutors were more responsible for the increase of crime than the failure of juries to convict. Crowded dockets it said resulted in prosecuting attorneys dismissing charges through the power of nolle prosequi thereby making them and not the judges the real arbiters of what laws shall be enforced and against whom."

Grand Jury Assailed

The grand jury system was branded unconstitutional. The report recommended its abolition except "as a general investigating body for inquiring into the conduct of public officers and in case of large conspiracies."

"Third degree" practices by police and prosecutors were disproved. A legal examination before a magistrate was proposed in order that prosecutions as well as suspects may have protection.

Theater News And Reviews

GLORIA SWANSON AT MARION

Gloria Swanson turns to comedy "Indiscretions," following her highly effective "The Trespasser," and the result is a clever hour and a half of entertainment at the Marion tonight and Tuesday. The star is an extremely modern young girl really in love with Ben Lyon, an author. She tells him of her previous affair and he confesses a few secret moments to her. Everything's set for a big wedding until Barbara Kent, her younger sister comes home muddy in love with Monroe Owsley, the man of Miss Swanson's past. To break off the illusion of her sister, Miss Swanson gets herself in some rather incriminating scenes with Owsley, witnessed by both the sister and Lyon. Everything ends up all right, but there are some bad moments until the picture ends on board an ocean liner. Miss Swanson handles her comedy skillfully and Lyon is perfect in his role. The rest of the cast does excellent work.

Two newreels, one dated back to the '80's, and a comedy complete the bill.
